CAN'T BE BOTHERED LOOKING THROUGH THIS HUGE GENEALOGY?
JUST WANT THE ANSWER TO HOW THE US BLAYNEYS RELATE TO THE BLAYNEY BARONS?
Go straight to the EUREKA discovery!! or just my Conclusion

One US account claims the tenth Lord Blayne, Cadwallader (Davis) Blayne (1769-84) had several sons, one of whom, Cadwallader, had a son Henry in 1792 and they both emigrated to USA in 1832, settling in Ohio county, Western Virginia. A large number of US Blayneys trace their ancestry this Cadwallader, or his brothers James and John who emigrated earlier. [\[Q3\]](#)

We read "For twelve generations Castle Blayne has been represented by a Cadwallader Blayne, that being the name of each succeeding son-in-heir, and the tenth Lord Blayne, the great-grandfather of the subject of this memoir, had several sons, one of whom, Cadwallader, became the grandfather." This statement is clearly not correct, as the name "Cadwallader" appears in only four (7th, 9th, 10th & 12th).

- The 7th Lord was born in 1693. He died in Dublin in 1732 and is buried at CastleBlayne
- The 9th Lord (b.1720) was Commander-in-Chief of Munster at the time of his death (1775, Cork) is also interred at CastleBlayne
- The 10th Lord was born in 1769. He died unmarried and without issue at 15 years of age in 1784 and is also interred at CastleBlayne
- The 12th Lord was born in 1817. He died "without issue" in London in 1874 and is buried at Kensal Green Cemetery, London

None of the Lords had a son John or a James and none lived in Co. Tyrone.

However, it is worth looking at the claimed Descendancy, even if the origin of this ancestral Cadwallader Blayne, with three sons emigrating to the USA between 1795 - 1832, was undetermined (but it has now been clarified -see EUREKA.) Interestingly, I have found answers to a number of other previous "dead ends" caused by misspelt names or use of a nickname such as EUREKA2!

I have tried to be as accurate as possible, copying from a number of quoted Internet sources to provide a concise US genealogy. Thus we have:

Descendancy of James, John and Cadwallader, sons of Cadwallader Blayne of Ireland:

1 Cadwallader BLAYNEY b.~1705 NOT "a Lord in Ireland".

Joseph Clarence BLAYNEY

In an on-line biography based on A. J. Baughman's "History of Morrow County, Ohio" [1688], this William Faris Blayney was claimed to be a direct descendant of Lord Thomas Blayney of Ireland through Charles, the youngest of four claimed sons of John Blayney, claimed son of said Lord, namely John, George, Edward and Charles. Charles was the grandfather of WILLIAM FARIS BLAYNEY.

The reality is that the grandfather of William was Charles BLAYNEY (1788-1860) who emigrated from County Down, Ireland in 1795 at age 7 with his father John Blayney who was born 1734 (or possibly 1760) in Outerard Townland. This John was the oldest of seven sons: - John; Henry (b~1735); Andrew (b.1740); Ambrose (b.1740); Benjamin (b.1754); James (b.1755) and Cadwallader (1757-1841), all born in Oughterard Townland, Ireland (not Castle Blayney) who all emigrated to America. Their parents were Rebecca WOODS (b~1712) and Cadwallader BLAYNEY (1705-1794), gr. gr. gr. great grandson of David Lloyd Blayney (father of the first Lord Blayney) & Elizabeth Gwyn.

Furthermore, there was no Lord Thomas Blayney. The only Lord (or Sir or Baron) Blayney with a christian name "Thomas" was Andrew Thomas Blayney, 11th Lord Blayney (1770-1834) who could not have been the father of John Blayney born 1734 (or possibly 1760) firstly because because Lord Andrew Thomas Blayney wasn't born until 1770 and secondly, he had only one son, Cadwallader Davis BLAYNEY (1802-1874) who died unmarried and childless.

See Blayney Barons

The claimed descendency of any American Blayney from the Blayney Lords is a myth - see Conclusion and following notes.

- 2 Cadwallader (Chadwallader) BLAYNEY b.1757 (Oughterard Townland, Co.Tyrone, Ireland), Emig. ?1803/4 to USA (Ohio Co. WV.) with eight children.
See [10] and See note 2 and died 21 August 1841, West Alexander, PA.
His grave is actually marked Cadwallader Blaney [564], reinforcing the concept that this was his original name. See EUREKA.

There are contradictory records of birth date of 1755, 1757, 1767 & 1769 and of his emigration date of 1790, 1795, or 1831 and even his death date, with some claiming he died in 1784 (the year the 11th Lord Blayney died). This is clearly false as it would be before he emigrated and 8 years before his son Henry was born, and at the tender age of 29 or younger, whereas we know that in his old age he lived with his son, Henry).

A more likely set of dates are those found on cemetery records at West Alexander, Co. Washington Pa. - see cemetery.
-Born 1757, Died 21-Aug,1841 Aged 84 yrs. [516] and these are in agreement with those found on the "Blaney" genealogy (more below).

Problems with the claim to a Lord for this family.

- Could it be that his sons couldn't inherit because of emigration to the US?
NO, because the youngest son (Charles I) of John I (b~1755) was born in Ireland in 1788 and John didn't emigrate until 1804.
- Perhaps the 10th Lord didn't marry the mother of John, James and Cadwallader, so they were not legitimate and couldn't inherit?
Possible, but see next answer
- Perhaps the father of John, James and Cadwallader was descended from a younger brother or an ancestor of a Lord BLAYNEY, not the 1 Lord?
This is the most likely explanation as it appears the 10th Lord wasn't even born when his "son" John I was born in 1755 and then he died when 15 years old, so he is unlikely to have had any children, legitimate or otherwise! It is natural to assume your ancestor Cadwallader was one of the Lords, but it was a common BLAYNEY name (like Thomas)!
 See EUREKA

Furthermore, cemetery records at West Alexander, Washington Co., PA. [\[516\]](#) reveal:

"27. Cadwallader BLAYNEY
 (Was a Lord in Ireland)
 Born 1757
 Died 21-Aug.1841
 Aged 84 yrs.
 28. George BLAYNEY
 Born 1812
 Died 20-Feb.1838
 Aged 26 yrs.
 29. Margaret BLAYNEY
 Consort/o George
 Died 22-Feb.1845"

This would indicate that the US Cadwallader was not the same as the 10th Lord Blayney, or any other known Lord Blayney. See EUREKA

Another reference to Cadwallader Blayney emigrating to the USA is found in the Spowls Family History [\[381\]](#) where one can read "no records of his [Cadwallader Blayney's] birth or death, and no available records of his parents or ancestry but presumed to have been related to the Lords Blayney of his native Ireland." The descent is given through a son not listed in other genealogies but identical to the genealogy of a Cadwallader Blaney (no "y") that I had already given on the Blaney page on this site! This Cadwallader Blaney (1768 - 1855) lived in Dullaghan Co Tyrone but neither his father (Ambrose) nor any son was a Cadwallader. Both the Cadwallader Blayney and the Cadwallader Blaney (1755/7 - 1841) fathered 8 offspring but the only common name was Jane but with no match for her dates, spouse or offspring. However, it was a different story for Cadwallader Blaney's grandfather, Cadwallader Blaney (1705-1794 of Dromore, Tyrone), see next...

A further record occurs in the LDS Family Search International Genealogical Index quoting "Record submitted after 1991 by a member of the LDS Church. No additional information is available." [\[02\]](#). Here I found the three brothers, albeit with the "Chadwallader" and "Blaney" spellings and two older brothers:

1 Chadwallader Blaney b.1705 d.1794 Co. Tyrone, Ulster, Ireland
 + Rebecca Woods

- 2 John Blaney b.~1734 Co. Tyrone, Ulster, Ireland
- 2 Ambrose Blaney b.1740 Co. Tyrone, Ulster, Ireland
- d. Outerard Townland, Co. Tyrone, Ulster, Ireland
- 2 Cadwallader Blaney b.~1755 Co. Tyrone, Ulster, Ireland
- d. West Alexander, Washington, PA. USA
- 2 James Blaney b.~1755 Dromore, Co. Down, Ulster, Ireland
- 2 John Blaney b.~1760 Dromore, Co. Down, Ulster, Ireland

AH HA - EUREKA!!!

The ancestor was already on my Blaney page, with Cadwallader Blaney (1705 - 1794) of Dromore, Tyrone married to Rebecca Woods having sons John Blane b.1734 and Ambrose Blaney b.1740 (see CBlaney). I just was blinded to the possibility that a Blaney might change his name back to Blayney (but then the rise the Blayney Lords at CastleBlaney may have influenced Cadwallader). The fact that the Cadwallader Blaney and descendants of the Robert Blaney [\[223\]](#) line were using the spelling "Blayney" by 1760 is confirmed by the use of the later spelling in the Old Vestry Book from Dromore, Co. Tyrone, where a number of ex matches are found. [\[382\]](#)

Using the Blaney lineage of Robert Blaney [\[223\]](#) and Debbie (Blaney) Ward [\[380\]](#), with matches to the Family Search International Genealogical Index [\[02\]](#), oth Internet genealogies and physical documents showing Blaney / Blaney exact matches

I can now demonstrate the origin of the US Blayneys descended from the Blayney brothers Cadwallader (b.~1755), father of eight, James (no issue), and John (b.~1760), also father of eight and how they relate to the Blayney Barons. The relationship is a lot more dilute than implied by many early US Blayneys (and not one of direct descent). Ignoring subsequent siblings and spouses not relevant to the connection, the simple relationship is:

Relationship of most US Blayneys (and Blaneys) to the Irish Blayney Lords (Barons)

9 John BLAYNEY b.1760
Emigrated to US (Ohio Co. WV.) in 1804
[also with eight children].

For a fuller ancestry/pedigree of James, Cadwallader and John, sons of Cadwallader of Ireland, see Blaney.html, and for their Descendancy see Descendancy, near the top of this page.

Several members of the Blaney family moved to Canada in the early 19th century. Chadwallader and George, and others such as Hugh to the USA. Many other Ulster families such as the Sproules emigrated with them and subsequently they inter-married. The family settled mainly in farming areas in Nova Scotia and Iowa. They continued to hold large family reunions right up to the 20th century, but probably had to stop these as everyone was marrying a cousin!

That the Blaney brothers James, Cadwallader and John (sons of Cadwallader) came from Dromore Tyrone and that a myth about the link to the baronial Blayneys was put about in the 1920s was confirmed recently by the genealogist Robert Blaney [\[331\]](#).

Conclusion: It is now clear that the Blaney descendants of James, Cadwallader and John, the sons of Cadwallader Blaney of Ireland (1705 -1794) who emigrated to the United States of America in the late 1700s and early 1800s are not directly descended from any of the Lords Blaney of Castleblaney, Co. Monaghan, Ireland, but came from Co. Dromore, Ulster, Ireland where they were previously known as "Blaney", and can still be found in "Blaney" genealogies. However evidence from the Vestry book at Dromore reveals they were using "Blayney" by 1760. A number of Blayneys from Dromore emigrated to New Brunswick, Canada and so their descendants also are not directly descended from the Blaney Lords. From my investigations however, it would appear that they do have a common ancestor with the Lords.

In my opinion, the American Blayneys can be relieved of the mild embarrassment of being descended from a "Planter Baron" with all the subsequent ill feelings, hatred, and death we have come to call "The Troubles" of Northern Ireland. It is now possible for them to trace their ancestors back to the first Blaney (John Blaney (1598 - 1648 of Ulster), son of Captain Thomas Blaney (1575 - 1648 of Tregynon, Wales) who came to Ireland with or around the same time as his brother Edward, who became the first Lord Blaney. The common ancestor was therefore the father of Edward and Thomas, David Lloyd Blayney (1523 - 1595) of Gregynog, Montgomeryshire, Wales.

However, it should be with some pride that the Blayneys can now admit to a secure and continuous direct male descent from a line of courageous Kings of Powys such as Brochfael Yagythrog (AD 502 - 570). Powys functioned as a buffer state between the British in Wales and the ever invading Saxons, so it was the strength, courage and leadership of these kings of Powys that kept the Saxons out of Wales for hundreds of years. There is also a reasonably good claim to descent from Constantine I, the first Christian Roman Emperor through Severa, daughter of Emperor Magnus Maximus.

Note 1: "Cadwallader Blayney of Ireland"

"To date the family archivists have found no record of his date of birth or the place of birth, except that it is somewhere in Ireland. Neither have they found a date or place of death. Available records indicate he died in or near West Finley, PA. at the home of his son Henry.

"The exact date he came to the United States has not been determined. Some students of the family history think it is possible that he came after some of the other family members, certainly later than his brothers James and John. No record has been found of his wife's name, or her date of birth or death. The records indicate she was born in Ireland and died in the United States." [\[03\]](#)

'A biographical record of the county of Washington, PA. would be incomplete were not special mention made in its pages of the Blayneys, who have their descent from an illustrious family of that name, for many years residents of Ireland---. Cadwallader was a wealthy land owner and in early times came to America making a settlement in Ohio Co., West Virginia, but on the death of his wife he made his home with his son Henry during the remainder of his life.' See "Cadwallader Blayney b.~1760" [\[10\]](#)

However in 2004 Keith Blayney (author of this Webpage) realised that no records existed in Ireland for "Cadwallader Blayney" (father or son) because there had been a name change back from "Chadwallader Blaney" and that Blaney genealogies clearly showed their descent not from a Blaney Lord, but from the David Lloyd Blayney, father of the first Lord Blayney.

Note 2: "John Blayney of Ireland"

John Blayney was born in Ireland about 1795, son of Cadwallader Blayney (born about 1757). Cadwallader emigrated to the USA at an unconfirmed date ?1804 (1790, 1795 or 1831) - I suspect it was 1804 as this is Rebecca's birth date [died d.31Sep1863 aged 59 years 9 months 8 days [\[518\]](#)], and she is said to have been born on the immigrant ship! John, however didn't come to the United States (with his wife Fanny Alcorn and family following later) until 1848 and died there 1875. He was apparently a minister. He apparently claimed that he was named by the last (12th) & childless Lord Blayney (Cadwallader Davis Blayney as his heir, in his will [\[03\]](#), [\[517\]](#). Therefore, the story goes, on the death of the last Lord Blayney in 1875, inquiry was made for "Uncle John," as the heir by will was familiarly known, but he had died a few months before..... The Blayney estate in Ireland, having thus no immediate heir, reverted to the Crown. [From page 477 of Beers [\[03\]](#). Also see [\[10\]](#) & [\[516\]](#).

However, as noted above, there is every reason now to believe that "Blayney" emigrants had recently changed from being Blaneys in Ireland, and that a bit of "Blarney" about a close relationship to the Blaney Lords was being accepted as being true. In fact dear "Uncle John" was only an 8th cousin to Cadwallader, the 12th and last Lord Blayney!

Also Cadwallader Davis Blayney, the 12th Lord Blayney died on the 18th Jan 1874 but by 1853 he had already sold Castleblaney and lands to Henry Thomas Hope of Deepdene, Surrey. Any remaining property (in Tipperary) and money was left to his sole surviving sibling Anne (not "Uncle John"). [\[35\]](#)
